

14.0 Engine-oil additives

All engines of the BMW Group are designed in such a way that no oil additives are necessary if modern, high-quality engine oils are used.

BMW refuses to use all types of oil additives and does not intend to test them in the foreseeable future.

The BMW Group will not accept any liability for any consequences and effects that may arise through the use of oil additives.